HIGH SECURITY (VANDAL RESISTANT) STEEL ENCLOSURE

TECHNICAL SPECIFICATION AND INFORMATION

1. PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The above ground steel enclosure must be manufactured out of mild steel and suitably powder coated with a product that is UV stable, corrosion and chip resistant. All hinges are to be concealed (not accessible from the outside) and the enclosure lockable by way of a mechanical spring loaded unique keying system which is keyed-alike and the key combination specific for Johannesburg Water (JW) to restrict possible tampering and unauthorised entry.

This enclosure must lock without the use of the key (mechanically clip into locked position once lid is closed by means of a spring loaded two point locking mechanism). The product must be suitable for instrumentation similar to data loggers, ultrasonic controllers, meter converters, power meters or small electrical/electronic equipment. There must be ventilation grilles/slats (upper and lower positions on the sides of the enclosure – not on the front or back panels) with wire mesh to limit the amount of insects from entering but ensure sufficient air circulation occurs within the enclosure.

2. TECHNICAL SPECIFICATION

2.1 Access

- The product must be able to be opened from the top and front for viewing the internal components.
- The front panel need to be fully removable and without hinges for ease of access by the user when installing various equipment/instruments or repairing / maintaining on site.

2.2 Protective and Decorative coating

- The enclosure must be powder coated with a UV, abrasive and mechanical resistant protective coating (colour: light grey for steel enclosure and white for the removable separation tray and back plate) with a DFT range of between 80–120µm. Note: No single DFT reading may read less than 80µm on the enclosure or internal powder coated panels or the product will be rejected by the client.

2.3 Locking System

- The locking mechanism must be a spring-loaded system to ensure the locking mechanism remains in the locked position even if the lock is tampered with.
- A forged/cast steel galvanised cover must further protect the lock and unique key opening from persons tampering or restrict them from forcing foreign objects into the unique lock.

TECHNICAL SPECIFICATION AND INFORMATION

- The outer shell of the locking cover must also be curved to make it difficult to mechanically cut through and therefore ensuring that only the key is easily accessible to the lock opening.
- The locking system must be designed in such a way that insects cannot nest and restrict access to the key entry such as the case with a normal lever locking system.

2.4 Product Dimensions & Colour

- The dimensions and colour of the steel powder coated enclosure supplied must be:
 - o Length : 1350mm - 1500mm
 - o Depth : 450mm - 500mm
 - o Width : 500mm - 550mm
 - o Steel Thickness : 2mm (minimum)
 - o Colour: : Light Grey
- The dimensions and colour of the back plate supplied must be:
 - o Length : 850mm - 900mm
 - o Width : 400mm - 450mm
 - o Steel Thickness : 2mm (minimum)
 - o Colour : White

2.5 Quality Assurance and Quality Control

A complete product sample with technical as-built drawing, keys and protective coating material data sheet (MDS) must be provided to Johannesburg Water's Material Inspector or nominated representative for inspection during the evaluation phase of the tendering process and will remain as the permanent reference for the product offered if the supplier's bid is successful i.e. the service provider will be informed in writing to collect their product sample and keys only if they are not successful.

Note: If the submitted product design changes, then the onus is on the supplier to provide JW with a new product sample as a reference standard. JW has the right to re-evaluate the new design and establish if it still meets the requirements, in the event that the new design does not meet the design, then JW shall have the right to terminate the award / contract.

2.6 Warranty Period

The product, including the locking mechanism and protective coating system, must be fully guaranteed for a period of not less the 24 months from date of delivery. Premature colour discolouration, cracking / delamination, or corrosion of the steel enclosure or mechanical failure of the concealed hinges or locking mechanism will require replacement / repairs by the supplier of the product.

2.7 Supplementary Requirements

- The enclosure must:
 - o be thermally insulated in the top of the housing (roof) and have at least 8 air vent grilles/slats on the enclosure side panels to reduce the build-up of heat and to keep the instruments/equipment inside the enclosure within their operating range.
 - o have wire mesh screening over the air vent grille/slats from the inside in order to restrict insect access into the enclosure through the vents.
 - o be fitted with removable white powder coated back plate which is offset from the back panel for the mounting of equipment.
 - o be rated at least IP55.
- The steel enclosure must be fitted with a white powder coated separation tray / gland plate (400mm +/- 50mm) from the bottom that is removable.
- The base of the steel enclosure should have a punched 10mm hole at each corner to ensure that it may be fastened onto a precast concrete base by M6 size anchor bolts.
- Every steel enclosure must be supplied with 2 keys that are "coded" specifically for Johannesburg Water's needs. There needs to be an allowance for three unique combination keyed-alike key sequences for Johannesburg Water.
- Each enclosure must be delivered with a permanent label affixed on the inside of a non-removable panel that identifies the Manufacturer/Supplier and Production date.

Re: Steel Enclosure with 3 Way Smart locking

Smart lock loaded mechanism:

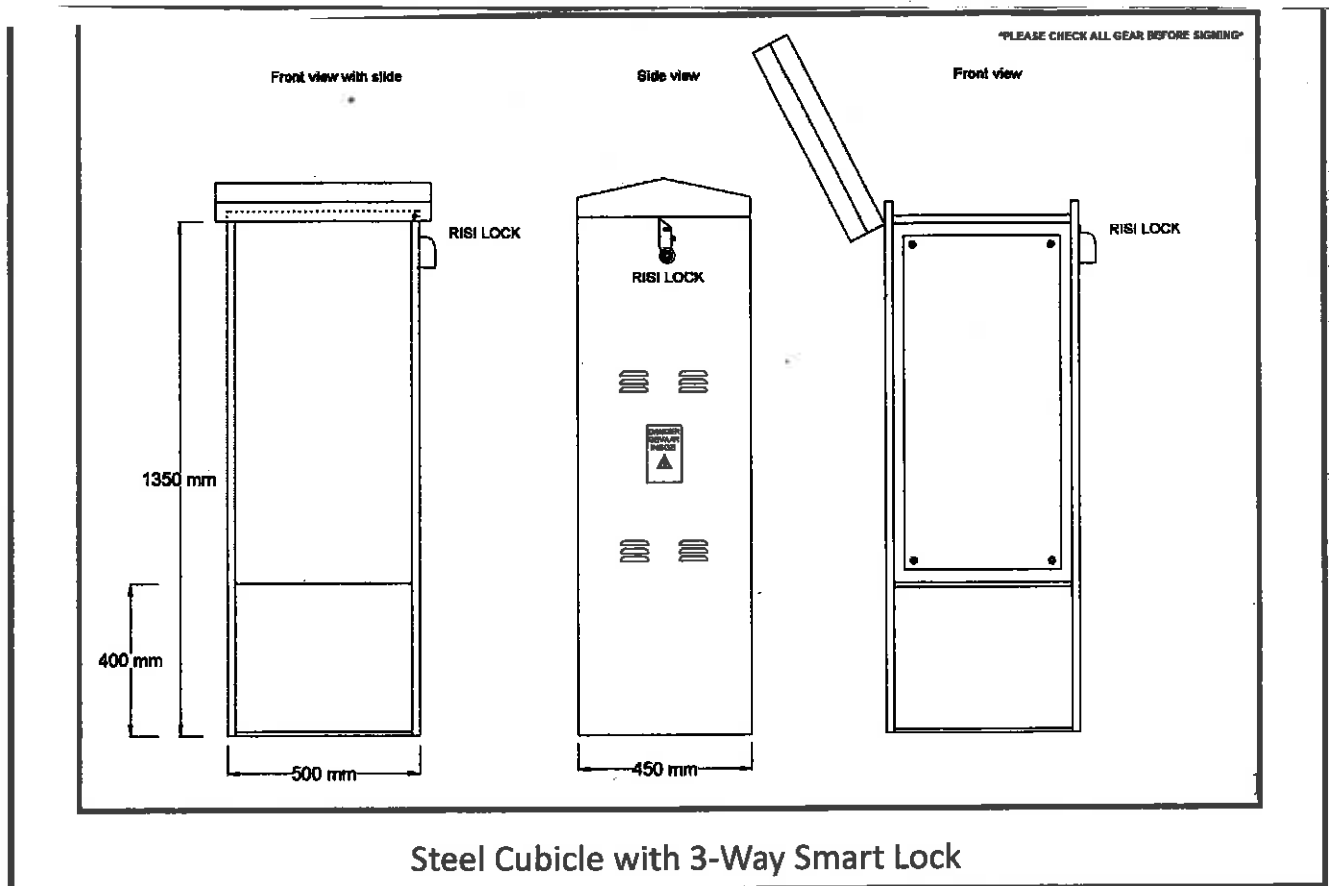

The loaded mechanism is attached to the Smartlock and is designed to automatically clip into the roof mountings. The spring loaded system on the mechanism is used in case the lock is damaged and will instantaneously lock the unit under protection. The lock is further protected by a cast cover. The curved outer shell of the cover makes it impossible to be cut through ensuring that the only thing getting close to the inner lock is the key.

Cubicle:

The cubicle is specially designed with hidden doors and sliding panels to prevent any tampering from the outside. There are no visible doors or locks that can be damaged.

The cubicle is insulated with polystyrene and special air vents are included to reduce the buildup of heat to keep the instruments cool.

The cubicle is fitted with a back plate, gear tray.
